Behaviour and Relationships Policy

December 2023

Behaviour at Damers is Everyone's Business

'Behaviour management is a team sport. It needs a team discipline, ethos and look. To get the behaviour you want, there can be no gaps between the adults on what matters.

It is this consistency that is most important.'

1. Introduction

At Damers First School we are an inclusive community of respectful, collaborative learners who are encouraged to constantly achieve their very best. Our school ethos is founded on our values which are lived out in our work and play. This enables every member of our community to live out our “Damers Way of Being” - Brave, Unique, Caring and Kind.

As a school we are passionate about inclusion and ensuring that every pupil, no matter what their starting point or background, is supported to be the best that they can be. Our core principle as a school is to manage behaviour positively so that our pupils feel valued, successful and prepared. We expect all of our staff and volunteers to share our belief that every pupil in our school matters and that we will expend every ounce of effort in order to support them to engage and be successful in their time at Damers.

In order to achieve this and our statutory expectations as a school, we have a duty to safeguard and promote the welfare of children and to create and maintain a safe learning environment. This policy sets out the behaviour expectations of all pupils at Damers First School and aims to explain to staff the powers, duties and responsibilities they have in respect of pupil behaviour. This policy also sets out our behaviour expectations and responsibilities for our pupils and parents. This policy is for all staff and volunteers at Damers First School and is compliant with the relevant statutory guidance.

This policy will enable staff to understand the need to educate pupils about behaviour and to support their growth as respectful, kind and caring members of the school and the wider community.

At Damers First School, ensuring good behaviour is everyone's business.

2. Aims

We recognise that high standards are best promoted when everyone (staff, pupils and parents) have a shared understanding of what is acceptable and unacceptable behaviour. This behaviour policy aims to support staff, pupils and parents to create an environment that encourages and reinforces good behaviour in line with our school rules, values and expectations (as set out at:

<http://www.damers.dorset.sch.uk/key-information/vision-aims-values/>).

The aims of this policy and the accompanying Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit are to:

- Define the standards of behaviour we expect at Damers First School
- Define and encourage a consistent approach to positive behaviour management
- Define and formalise a consistent approach to recording and managing antisocial behaviour and serious behaviour incidents
- Demonstrate our recognition of the link between mental health, wellbeing and behaviour
- To ensure that the School's expectations and strategies are widely known and understood by all members of the school community
- Define our approaches to bespoke arrangements for children with SEND or other additional needs
- Define and formalise our approaches to rewards and sanctions

3. Policy, research and legal frameworks

This policy embodies our school culture and ethos of inclusive, positive behaviour management with relationships at its core. It has been developed through a 'Trauma Informed Schools' approach where relationships are at the heart of every interaction. We are committed to ensuring that our school develops a trauma and mentally healthy informed approach to ensure that all our pupils develop positive mental health and resilience, enabling them to fully engage in life and learning. There is a growing body of research and understanding of the impact of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) on long term mental and physical health and the protective factors that mitigate the potential impact. It is our aim to maximise the protective factors of school by creating an environment of safety that has strong, positive and supportive relationships at its heart.

Furthermore, a variety of research has been used to inform this policy, including, but not limited to the EEF guidance report on 'Improving Behaviour in Schools' and DFE advice on Behaviour in Schools. In addition, Damers First School is a Rights Respecting School with the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child underpinning our work.

This policy has due regard to all relevant legislation and statutory guidance including, but not limited to, the following:

- Education Act 1996
- Education Act 2002
- Education and Inspections Act 2006
- Health Act 2006
- The School Information (England) Regulations 2008
- Equality Act 2010
- DfE (2013) 'Use of reasonable force'
- DfE (2015) 'Special educational needs and disability code of practice: 0 to 25 years'
- DfE (2018) 'Mental health and behaviour in schools'
- DfE (2022) 'Behaviour in schools: Advice for headteachers and school staff'
- DfE (2023) 'Keeping children safe in education 2023'
- DfE (2022) 'Searching, Screening and Confiscation: Advice for schools'
- DfE (2023) 'Suspension and Permanent Exclusion from maintained schools, academies and pupil referral units in England, including pupil movement'

The policy should be read in conjunction with other school policies. It aims to ensure that the pupils at our school feel safe and secure and learn to modify their behaviour to what is socially acceptable according to pupils' individual levels of understanding and ability. The wider set of school policies can be found at:

<http://www.damers.dorset.sch.uk/key-information/school-policies/>

4. Responsibilities

We believe that Behaviour at Damers is Everyone's Business and support all staff to be positive in their management of behaviour but also feel empowered to address any behaviour that does not meet our high standards.

The Role of the Head of School

It is the role of the Head of School, under the School Standards and Framework Act 1998, to implement the school Behaviour Policy consistently throughout the school, and to report to Governors, when requested, on the effectiveness of the policy. The Head of School will ensure that all new staff will be inducted clearly into the school's behaviour culture to ensure they understand its rules and routines and how best to support all pupils to participate in creating the culture of the school. It is also the responsibility of the Head of School to ensure the health, safety and welfare of all the children in the school.

The Head of School supports the staff by implementing the policy, by setting the standards of behaviour, and by supporting staff in the implementation of the policy. The Head of School has access to records of all reported incidents of misbehaviour on MyConcern.

The Head of School has the responsibility for suspensions of individual children for serious acts of anti-social behaviour. For repeated or very serious acts of anti-social behaviour, the Head of School may permanently exclude a child. The Head of School must publicise the school Behaviour Policy, in writing, to staff, parents and pupils at least once a year.

The Governing body play an important part in the development and monitoring of this policy, please see this document for more information: The Role of the Governing Body

The Role of Class Teachers and Teaching Assistants

All school staff have an equal responsibility for the welfare and discipline of children in school and must lead by example at all times. A full list of our expectations of class teachers and teaching assistants can be found in our Managing Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit, and includes:

- To embed the agreed aims and values of the school among the children and across the school community
- To actively establish positive relationships with pupils and families and treat them with respect and understanding in a fair and just manner
- To make proactive adaptations, with the support of the SENDco and other members of SLT for children with additional needs
- To develop and maintain a positive learning environment where children are taught and understand the school rules, the choice pathway and support children to learn to manage their own emotions and behaviour
- To develop a class charter which is then displayed and referred to throughout the year
- To consistently follow the school behaviour policy including the consistent use of rewards and consequences
- Meet the educational, social and behavioural needs of each individual.
- To provide an exciting, stimulating curriculum that meets the needs of all children
- It is the responsibility of the class teacher and/or teaching assistant to record significant incidents of inappropriate behaviour on MyConcern
- Class teachers are always willing to meet with parents/carers to discuss any behaviour related concerns that they might have.

The Role of Non-teaching staff

Damers First School staff have high expectations of the children in terms of behaviour, and they strive to ensure that all children work to the best of their ability. All non-teaching staff will regard children fairly and enforce the school rules consistently and treat all children that they work with or come across with respect and understanding. It is the responsibility of non-teaching staff to also record significant incidents of inappropriate behaviour on MyConcern that they are involved in or witness or to pass these concerns onto a member of school staff if not set-up on MyConcern.

The Role of Parents and Carers

Staff will welcome early contact if parents and carers have a concern about their child's behaviour or are concerned about their emotional wellbeing. If parents and carers and school work together we believe that the behaviour of pupils will be of a high standard. Parents and carers can help in the following ways:

- By supporting the school in teaching pupils that they are expected to follow our school rules and as such behave in a responsible manner, both towards themselves and others, showing consideration, courtesy and respect for other people at all times.
- By ensuring that pupils show a proper regard for other people's property, buildings and the environment.
- By ensuring that pupils arrive punctually for the start of the school day.
- By ensuring regular attendance at school and avoiding unnecessary pupil absence.
- By ensuring that pupils have appropriate dress for school and PE to enable them to take part in all school activities.
- By adhering to the Home-School Agreement, which details the agreed responsibilities of parents, pupils and teachers.

5. Our Behaviour Management Ethos

At Damers First School our approach to behaviour management is underpinned by the Dorset Therapeutic Thinking approach. Dorset Therapeutic Thinking is based upon the principle that if you can teach someone a more effective and more acceptable behaviour than the challenging one, the behaviour of concern will be reduced. Therapeutic Thinking suggests that behaviours that challenge are learned, and so are open to being changed. A number of key staff at Damers have been trained in the Dorset Therapeutic Thinking approach and all staff have then been trained in key elements of the Therapeutic Thinking approach by these fully-trained members of staff. However, in order to make the approach work best for our pupils and our community, this behaviour policy uses many of the elements of the Dorset Therapeutic Thinking approach whilst adding some of our own, bespoke arrangements for behaviour management.

We have high expectations for all of our pupils in terms of their ability to learn and everyday is viewed as an opportunity to extend knowledge and skills. However, one of the biggest barriers to achieving this may be pupils' difficulty to self-regulate. Access to the curriculum can be hindered by a pupil who is emotionally dysregulated. It follows, therefore, that a happy and emotionally regulated pupil is more inclined to make progress due to their readiness to learn and engage. Damers First School aims to truly understand pupils and their behaviour, implementing research-based strategies with one aim in mind; to improve the quality of life for all of our pupils and their families through;

- Clearly defined routes for behaviour support
- Behaviour practice which encompasses the whole-child, including sensory strategies
- Positive reinforcement that is clear and presented at a level that pupils understand
- High expectations
- Consistency in response
- Bespoke plans that support individual behaviour where required
- A multi-agency approach where required
- Relationships that nurture, built on trust and mutual respect
- Increasing meaningful participation
- Increasing choice and control for our pupils
- Reducing risk and promoting safeguarding of pupils and staff

Some pupils who attend Damers First School have complex needs and/or an Education Health Care Plan. Research suggests that when children experience more severe difficulties, the more likely it is for difficult behaviours of concern to occur. These behaviours may be more likely in children who have communication difficulties, such as autism, sensory impairments, sensory processing difficulties and physical or mental health problems (NICE guidelines 2015). This means that there is a likelihood that some pupils may display some form of concerning behaviours during a typical school day. This policy, therefore, seeks to provide staff, and other key groups, with clear guidelines for positive behaviour management.

At Damers First School, we believe that:

- Every pupil is unique, and that a 'one size fits all' approach to behaviour management may not work for all pupils and that we will adapt our approach where necessary
- All behaviour serves a function for the individual
- All behaviour is a form of communication
- Pupils should not be blamed for their behaviour
- Pupils do not generally behave randomly, sometimes it might be hard to see the reason behind the behaviour, but it is always there
- Staff must use fair and consistent vocabulary when describing a pupil's behaviour
- Pupils who are motivated, and whose personal interests are incorporated into their daily school lives, are less likely to exhibit concerning behaviour
- Restrictive Physical Interventions (RPIs) should only be used as a very last resort
- All behaviour management strategies ought to be in the best interests of the pupil
- The attitudes, perceptions and values of the staff working with pupils can have a dramatic effect on the incidence of behaviours that challenge and the effectiveness of how it is managed.

6. Our School Rules

We have three fundamental school rules:

Ready, Respectful and Safe.

At Damers, we expect all our pupils to be Ready. This means we expect our pupils to be ready to learn, and show this by sitting well, listening to whoever is speaking and remembering to put their hands up to share their thoughts. In addition, this means having the right equipment and uniform to engage in their lessons and having a can-do, resilient attitude to their learning.

We also expect our pupils to be Respectful. This means we expect our pupils to have excellent manners, to communicate effectively with their peers and adults and to treat everyone with respect and tolerance. Furthermore, this means that pupils will be taught empathy, to be considerate of others' feelings and to respect their surroundings, both in school and in the wider community.

Finally, we expect our pupils to be Safe. This means that we expect our pupils to use kind hands and feet, to move around the school in a calm and quiet manner and to be able to make positive decisions based on their understanding of what is right and wrong.

Please see the following image which illustrates our school rules.

7. Guidelines

The key to good behaviour is excellent relationships underpinned by high quality teaching and learning. To ensure that Damers is a happy and safe environment there are consistent and well-managed classrooms underpinned by whole school systems and procedures that make school expectations explicit. Clear consequences are identified and shared with the school community - such as our Ready, Respectful Safe Display and On Track to Success Display - setting out our expectations of excellent behaviour throughout the school. They also set out how issues can be dealt with effectively. Ongoing training, performance management and observations provide ongoing feedback and professional development for all staff to ensure behaviour is managed well by all staff.

8. Implementation: Positive Behaviour Management

Our first focus as a school in delivering our Behaviour and Relationships policy is to be relentlessly positive. The emphasis throughout the school is on supporting pupils to behave in a pro-social way: to encourage them to develop internal controls rather than punish them for getting this wrong. As such, we focus first on positive behaviour management, through the following activities, interventions and mindsets.

Kindness and mutual respect

Staff empathy and understanding of each pupil's perspective and experience of the world is seen as central when considering how best to support and encourage appropriate behaviours. The most commonly used form of encouragement in the school is kindness. All staff must consistently model positive behaviour and language, including body language.

Class charters

All classes work together to produce Class Charters that outline expected pro-social behaviours. These are on display in every classroom and used to set classroom level expectations of positive behaviour.

Positive reinforcement

Staff use positive and adapted reinforcement as a celebration of pro-social behaviours (we focus on 'catching them getting it right'). Staff use special interests and motivating activities to make tasks intrinsically motivating rather than ‘dangling carrots’ for pupils to work towards. Pupils will use strategies such as:

- a smile or thumbs up
- mutual respect, including using manners
- acknowledge of appropriate behaviour
- enthusiasm for learning
- positive comments specifically about behaviour or effort
- highlighting children to the whole class who have been noticed for their behaviour.

Proactive adults

At all times our staff are proactive - getting involved and engaged with pupils - rather than being passive observers of activities, learners or lessons.

Proactive strategies

Proactive strategies are intended to ensure that the pupil has access to strategies and approaches that are suitable and support self-regulation that in turn, lessen the likelihood of escalation. Examples of proactive strategies include:

- Regular sensory breaks in class or in one of our sensory spaces
- Using the ‘Zones of Regulation’ programme where required
- Structured/predictable daily routine for all children with more bespoke routines for others where appropriate
- Using our in-depth knowledge of our pupils to plan for positive behaviour

Start everyday afresh

We expect all staff to treat everyday as a new start and treat all children equally, fairly and with respect regardless of any historic behaviours or incidents.

Behaviour displays and clear choices

Pupils at Damers are taught about managing their emotions and behaviour in a variety of ways, including but not limited to specific behaviour teaching in a class setting, class and year group based PSHE sessions and whole school assemblies. Where required, pupils are taught about managing emotions and behaviour in smaller group settings or on a one-to-one basis through a variety of different methods, including the ‘Zones of Regulation’ approach. As part of this teaching, pupils are taught about our On Track to Success display. This is on display in every classroom in the school. This display visually illustrates our approach to positive behaviour management in school and how the children always have a choice to stop and change their behaviours in order to do the right thing and avoid any negative consequences being put in place.

Rewards

Rewards can be a powerful motivator in positively reinforcing children's behaviour. Some pupils will make the association between their behaviour/completing their work and the receiving of a reward. For others, the reward of simply completing a task might be sufficient. Whatever reward system is used, it must be meaningful to the pupil, and where a reward is used, it must be used consistently by all members of staff in order to have the desired effect.

Rewards and celebrations - class based

Rewards may be in the form of positive praise, or tangible and are always designed to motivate positive behaviour. At Damers, rewards are likely to take the form of either an object (e.g. sticker) or an experience (e.g. time spent with a favoured person or doing a favoured activity). Alongside whole school rewards, each class develops its own menu of rewards personalised to each class. The practice of removing rewards once achieved is not used.

Rewards and celebrations - whole school

At Damers we have a range of ways to celebrate good behaviour, these include:

- Golden Butterfly Award. Chosen by class teacher. Linked to school values and presented weekly in Friday assembly.
- 'Noticed Board' where non-teaching members of the school, from the Senior Leadership Team to staff in the school office, can nominate a child who they have seen following our school rules. For example, a child might be noticed by a member of the office team for their excellent walking around the school. These children would be rewarded with their name on the weekly 'Noticed Board' in the school corridor and sent a postcard home to parents.
- 'Magic Manners' award. Senior Leaders to identify children for this award. Presented to one child in each strand during Monday assembly.
- 'The A-Team' award. Presented to one class in the school during Friday assembly who have been seen following the school rules consistently well. Awarded by the Head of School and an extra playtime overseen by SLT the reward during the following week.
- 'Mr Seniors Sport Award' presented to the best sportspeople of the week. One award per strand decided by Mr Senior and presented in Friday assembly.

In addition there are further celebrations and rewards presented in assemblies or in other forums on an ad-hoc basis, i.e. Golden Butterfly Trophy for outstanding community achievement.

Classroom management and organisation

At Damers First School we have identified classroom management, organisation and procedures lie at the heart of developing and maintaining good behaviour. Together, we have clearly defined what we do every day in our school to promote good behaviour, in addition to the above. These classroom expectations can be found in our staff Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit, which is a toolkit of essential actions which make up the first step in our behaviour management provision. These include, but are not limited to:

- Greeting pupils in the morning of each day
- Establishment of clear routines
- Communication of expectations of behaviour through modelling and through visual representation
- The highlighting and promotion of good behaviour

9. Implementation: Prevention

The next step in our behaviour management approach is focused on preventing behaviours of concern from happening in the first place. This means being aware of anything that might cause a pupil to become dysregulated, and which might then act as a trigger for behaviours that challenge. It also means putting into place a range of proactive strategies that are known to assist pupils in staying regulated.

We believe that a certain behaviour is generally a rational response to adverse circumstances. Rather than view the behaviour as part of the person, we need to change what goes on around the person, such as their environment or how adults support them. This approach fits well with the 'Iceberg' model of thinking which states that although we are able to see the demonstrable aspects of behaviour, there is often a lot 'going on' that we don't see, in much the same way that 90% of an iceberg is submerged beneath the surface of the water.

In order to anticipate and prevent anti-social/challenging behaviour from occurring we do the following:

Intervene early / distract

As soon as a pupil starts to show signs of dysregulation, that's the time to act or step back and wait until the pupil has self-regulated. There is still time at this 'trigger' phase to prevent the pupil's dysregulation from escalating. Sometimes, providing a distraction at this point can prevent behaviour from escalating. This might include:

doing something unexpected, asking for help to complete a job around the classroom or fabricating a need to have something delivered to the front office. 'Time-away' is used for a pupil who is given a break from an activity or setting because they are beginning to show signs of dysregulation. The sole purpose of 'time-away' is to de-escalate signs of dysregulation before they trigger behaviour that is potentially concerning.

De-escalate

When pupils become dysregulated, staff need to use their in-depth knowledge to provide the pupil with whatever support they need in order to return to a regulated state. Wherever possible, the pupil ought to be involved in decision making about what they do or where they go. This might include: going for a walk, bouncing on the gym ball, biting on a chewy tube or jumping on the trampoline, or to be given some time and space in a clutter free space.

Proper Planning

All staff at school are reflective professionals who question their practice constantly. As such, any negative behaviours that occur will be properly discussed on a class team basis or wider as each case requires. As a result of these professional discussions formal and informal plans will be put in place to avoid or prevent a repeat of behaviours taking place. This may take many different forms, from simple responses such as presenting work in a different way or walking a different route to the more formal creation of Risk Reduction Plans or other formal approaches.

Reactive strategies

Reactive strategies are designed to keep the pupil and those around them safe from harm. They provide a way to react quickly in a situation where the pupil is distressed or anxious and putting themselves or others at risk. Examples of reactive strategies include:

- Diversion / distraction
- Humour as de-escalation
- Not responding to, or 'ignoring' the behaviour

It is likely that these strategies will be in place on a child's Risk Reduction Plan or have already been discussed by the staff working with the pupil or pupils and the Senior Leadership Team.

Risk Reduction Plans and Preventative Activities

Some pupils, who have SEND or additional needs, may have adapted behaviour expectations or Risk Reduction Plans in place. The staff working with these pupils will be aware of these children and the adapted provision in place in order to prevent anti-social behaviour or crisis behaviours from occurring and will look to step in early in order to avoid this. Some pupils will also have additional support from our pastoral teaching assistants, intervention activities from both internal and external staff and access to a range of sensory activities or interventions, such as talking and drawing, Lego sessions, reading with therapy dogs, sensory swing time, outside time, sensory room time or regular sensory breaks amongst other activities.

10. Implementation: Managing Challenging Behaviour

We recognise at Damers First School that children and young people need boundaries and to understand that there are consequences for anti-social behaviour. We will always give three choices to pupils and refer them to our Ready, Respectful Safe Display and On Track to Success Display before taking any actions which involve consequences.

We have graded our response to behaviours into three tiers, where tier one behaviour is to be managed on a classroom basis, tier two to be managed with the support of the Year Leader and tier three with the support of the Senior Leadership Team. We recognise that behaviour is not a binary issue and does not easily fit into a category and as such we support all staff to be flexible when dealing with behaviour, their responses and to rely on their professional judgement, the support of other staff and the content within this policy, the Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit and other supporting documents.

For some of our children with SEN or with additional needs, in order to be successful we have to adapt our strategies, including those for behaviour, to the individual needs of each pupil. Individual risk reduction plans may be written for those pupils who require a specific response that might be different to the majority. Individual approaches to support pro-social behaviour are as many and varied as the pupils themselves, but can include the following:

- alternative seating arrangements
- additional support with an adult
- additional time to regulate before, during or after a session
- fit or sensory breaks built into a timetable
- specific, individual visual timetable
- use of social stories and widgets.

Debriefing/repair work is always carried out after any consequence is put in place and is done so at an appropriate level for each pupil. Debriefing is used to explain the protective consequence and to support understanding and future learning - the educational consequence. Debriefing sessions will follow positive listening principles:

- Take time to listen
- Listen to the pupil's perspective first
- Try to understand how all those involved felt and why they did what they did
- Explain why staff took the actions that they took
- Try to connect feelings with behaviours
- Talk about future strategies, using visual prompts as appropriate, that the pupil can use when they are feeling anxious, angry or upset
- Talk about how staff will help the pupil to respond with more pro-social behaviour in the future.

Some pupils may not have the expressive or receptive skills to fully engage in debriefing sessions. Where this is the case staff will explore alternative strategies such as social stories in order to explain why certain actions are taken and teach prosocial skills for the future.

Any anti-social behaviour that takes place off the school site will be responded to in the same way; pupils are representing the school when off site and expectations remain the same as in school.

Damers First School has a zero-tolerance approach to any forms of sexual harassment and sexual violence and will ensure that any incidents are met with a suitable response and never ignored. As a school we follow the guidance as set out in Keeping Children Safe in Education and within associated policies which can found at: <http://www.damers.dorset.sch.uk/key-information/school-policies/>

In the event that staff have been unable to prevent, intervene early, de-escalate or distract, it is important to ensure the safety of everybody in the event that a pupil's behaviour becomes challenging. Staff will be expected to follow the approaches as set out in our 'Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit'.

As a last resort, and only when all of the previous graded steps have failed, it might be necessary to physically support a pupil in order to keep everyone safe. This must involve the minimum amount of force necessary for the minimum amount of time and must be done in line with the guidance in our 'Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit' and with statutory guidance.

Any challenging behaviour, unless already subject to a risk reduction plan, would be a tier three focus for school staff and treated as such with follow up actions, including consequences, communication with parents and reintegration into the classroom led by the class teacher and senior leadership team.

11. Implementation: Shared Vocabulary

At Damers First School we believe that language is important and that certain words, or descriptions, can be unhelpful and potentially misleading when used to describe the behaviour of pupils. For this reason, Damers First School is very prescriptive about the terminology that staff are using. This relates to all forms of spoken and written communication. A shared language is used to discuss and manage behaviour and this is included in our 'Behaviour and Relationships Toolkit' which all staff use as an operational tool in promoting good behaviour. .

12. Implementation: Professional Support & Challenge

Behaviour management at Damers is everyone's business and a team effort. As such, all staff are advised to offer support to any staff member that might be dealing with a dysregulated child. This offer of help will be subtle but will act as an option of help for the staff member to call upon if the situation requires it.

At Damers First School, every member of staff has a duty of care to act in the best interest of pupils, especially if they have reasonable grounds to suspect that a colleague is operating outside the parameters laid down in this policy. Damers First School wants to give a voice to any member of staff in this type of situation by encouraging a culture of 'professional challenge'. In the context of this policy, the action would relate to any aspect of behaviour management. If a member of staff felt unsure or concerned about how a pupil was being supported or managed they should complete a MyConcern or speak to a member of the Senior Leadership Team at the earliest opportunity.

13. Implementation: Suspensions

We do not believe that suspension or exclusion is an effective way to support learners especially those with SEND and we will always try to adapt and personalise the provision for all of our pupils in order to ensure that they are able to access education. However, in extreme and exceptional circumstances, the Head of School may need to suspend a pupil temporarily or permanently - this will be considered very carefully. It is also possible for the Head of School to convert a suspension into a permanent exclusion, if the circumstances warrant this. A decision to exclude a pupil permanently from Damers First School will be taken only in response to serious breaches of the school's behaviour policy, a significant risk to themselves or others or if allowing the pupil to remain in school would not be in the pupil's best interest. Where pupils are at serious risk of exclusion, the Local Authority, Wessex MAT and all relevant external agencies will be involved and an urgent meeting will be called. Exclusion will be the last resort after all other steps have been exhausted.

14. Implementation: Recording & Monitoring

All concerns about a child are recorded on My Concern, an online recording system that reports immediately to the members of staff responsible for safeguarding at Damers First School.

In the event of an accident or injury to a pupil or adult an Accident/Incident Form is completed and a copy of the form is sent to the Local Authority.

All MyConcerns should be completed using precise, factual and non-judgemental language and include precise timings and duration of any incident. Full names of staff and pupils involved are recorded on all documentation. A member of the Senior Leadership Team will review these and they will be followed up on a case by case basis. A weekly meeting of the Senior Leadership Team focuses on the review and analysis of completed MyConcerns in order to ensure an appropriate follow-up has been made and that any patterns or common threads are identified early in order to address them.

The school recognises that changes in behaviour may be an indicator that a pupil is in need of help or protection. We will always consider whether a change in a pupils' behaviour may be linked to them suffering or likely to suffer significant harm. Where this may be the case we will follow our child protection and safeguarding policies.

15. Monitoring & Evaluation

The local governing body (LGB) is responsible for monitoring this policy's effectiveness and holding the Head of School to account for its implementation. The Head of School/LGB is responsible for reviewing and approving this policy.

The Head of School will ensure that the school environment encourages positive behaviour and that staff deal effectively with poor behaviour, and will monitor how staff implement this policy. This policy will be reviewed by the Head of School and the LGB annually.

This policy is on the school website and hard copies are available to parents and carers from the school office.
